ANNEX I

The Partnership for Democratic Local Governance in Southeast Asia (DELGOSEA) was launched in March 2010 and is co-funded by the European Union and the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung (KAS) of Germany through the German Ministry of Development Cooperation.

DELGOSEA's aim was the creation of a network of cities and municipalities to implement the replication of best practices within local governance across national borders, concentrating on five partner countries: Cambodia, Indonesia, Philippines, Thailand and Vietnam. It supports the role of Local Government Associations (LGAs) in assisting the transfer and sustainability of best practice replication by local governments. Most importantly, through the exchange of best practices in the region, DELGOSEA contributes to the improvement of living conditions of disadvantaged groups in Southeast Asia by helping increase their participation in local planning and decision-making.
